Thy friend, SUS iNNAH KIRBY.

Ligonier, Noble County, Indiana, Feb. 5th, 1859

Prov. O. J. Woor: Dear Siri—In the latter part of the year 1852, white attending the State and National Law School of the State ot New York, my hair, from a cause unknown to me, commenced failing off very rapidly, so that in the short space of six months, the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entirely bereft of its covering, and much of the remaining portion upon the side and baca part of my head snortly after became gray, so that you will not be surprised when I tell you that upon my return to the State of Indiana, my more casual acquaintances were not so much at a less to discover the cause of the change in my appearance, as my more intiacquaintances were not so much at a less to discover the cause of the change in my appearance, as my more intimate acquaintances were to recognize me at all.

I at once made application to the most skillful physiciats in the country, but, receiving no assurance from them that my hair would again be restored. I was forced to become reconciled to my fate, until, fortunately, in the latter part of the year 1857, your Heatorative was recommended to me by a druggist, as being the most reliable Hair Restorative in use. I tried one bottle, and found to my great satisfaction that it was producing the desired effect. Since that time, I have used seven dollars worth of your Restorative, and as a result, have a rich coat of very soft black hair, which no money can buy.

As a mark of my gratitude for your labor and skill in the production of so wonderful an article. I have recom-mended its use to many of my friends and acquaintances, who, I am happy to inform you, are using it with like effect. Very respectfully, yours,

A. M. LATTA, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparation pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatev-er. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. How I Lost my Lover. BY NELL PITTSINGER.

"Be careful of the fire, Nelly," was the last in junction of a thousand that my parents gave me, as they started off on a visit to some relatives residing castward, beyond the White Mountains. They were to remain absent about a fortnight; and I was to be commander-in-chief of rows of shining milk pans, pots, kettles, and household kind of affairs in general and in particular.

Farmers' wives know that his s a post of considerable importance, one of hard duty and con-stant watchiulness. I was so thoroughly con-operations, which I resolved should astonish my unbelieving parents, and show them what a treasure of a daughter they unwittingly possessed, I glanced around. The rooms were in woful continuous. Band-boxes, coats, pants, and cast off shirts, were scattered over the floor and chairs; cobwebs hung from the ceiling and windows; on the table lay a huge pile of unwashed dishes, and the half-opened doors revealed tumbled beds and mussy toilet stands. This accumulation of disorder would have driven Lord Chesterfield distracted would have driven Lord Chesterfield distracted would have driven Lord Chesterfield distracted as a continuous co bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, ed; and no wonder that the mirror opposite resiting-room pealed forth one, two, three, four, longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of must go wrong, and the great machinery of satisfaction, the beautiful order I had brought about. Was it mine? I glanced downward. Shade of Ham! My faith in spotless-robed heroines was gone at once. I was a tri-colored exhibition of red, white and black. Troubles heaped themselves up strangely. I wanted to throw myself on the carpet, and cry like a very child. I did nothing of the kind. Instead, I burst into a laugh, as the whole scene came before me in its ridiculous light. I laughed till the tears rolled down my checks; and, as Philip became more disgusted, my merriment increased. I laughed when he won't away, though I knew he would never finish the offer so unluckily begun.

Three weeks later he was united to a Jenny Wheeler. Soon after, I attended a party at widow Desn's, and had the happiness in overhearing Philip's indifferent remsrk to Fred Lee, a kind of explanatory apology for the flirtation between us: "A dear little girl, but a poor cook."

The Clarkesville (Tenn) Chronicle is respon-sible for the following: On Monday evening, as the train from Springfield was approaching in its name, I plead guilty to the weakness. Freely do I own that I have liked it from my pinged to the following: Od Monday evening, as the train from Springfield was approaching town, on turning a short curve the engineer discovered a man lying on the track, across one tary speech recorded above, was followed by a very awkward pause, during which time we is used to the rime of our ears.

'Nelly,'' he continued, 'you know I have no asister. Sometimes I am very ionely. My dear and valued mother is becoming aged, and my nature craves a younger and dearer companion'

Horrid! At that moment an oder of burning meat came most unpleasantly to my olfactories. I begged to be excused, and hastened into the culinary quarters to find the piece of beef I had so carefully prepared almost spoils. Nervously I caught a holder from the shelf, and in so doing succeeded in knocking mother's favorite cut-glass pitcher, which fell with a loud crash, proceeding to the crash and a house of regiments.
